再见，香港霓虹灯

Goodbye, Hong Kong Neon Lights

五颜六色的霓虹灯是香港的标志，大大小小的招牌从楼房的墙面伸出来，站在街道上的人们抬头几乎看不到天空。到了夜晚，霓虹灯全部点亮。你会看到一条多彩的街道。可以说，霓虹灯招牌是香港迷人的文化符号。

霓虹灯招牌在20世纪20年代开始在香港出现，在20世纪50年代到80年代增长得很快。1970年，在弥敦道和湾仔周围，你会看到整座楼房都被霓虹灯盖住了。然而，到了今天，你会发现霓虹灯招牌正在慢慢减少，它们正在被LED灯招牌代替。香港霓虹灯招牌减少的主要原因有三个。首先是LED技术的发展，因为LED灯更省电，招牌制作更简单。也可以做出和霓虹灯一样的颜色。其次，霓虹灯的加工需要人手工制作，制作的过程比较复杂，经验丰富的人人才能做得好。

最后是安全原因。霓虹灯招牌又大又重，安装在楼房外有时会有安全问题。2008年之后，城市管理更加严格，拆除了不少霓虹灯招牌。

Colorful neon lights are a symbol of Hong Kong. Large and small signs extend from the walls of buildings, and people standing on the street can hardly see the sky when looking up. At night, all the neon lights are lit up. You will see a colorful street. It can be said that neon signs are a charming cultural symbol of Hong Kong.

Neon signs began to appear in Hong Kong in the 1920s and grew rapidly from the 1950s to the 1980s. In 1970, around Nathan Road and Wan Chai, you would see entire buildings covered by neon lights. However, today, you will find that neon signs are gradually decreasing, and they are being replaced by LED signs. There are three main reasons for the decrease of neon signs in Hong Kong. First is the development of LED technology, because LED lights are more power-saving, and sign production is simpler. They can also produce the same colors as neon lights. Second, the processing of neon lights requires manual production by people, the production process is relatively complex, and experienced people can do it well.

Finally, there are safety reasons. Neon signs are both large and heavy, and installing them outside buildings sometimes causes safety problems. After 2008, urban management became more strict, and many neon signs were dismantled.

Neon signs in Hong Kong are decreasing, but they will always be a part of Hong Kong culture, and Hong Kong's nights will still be very exciting.

香港霓虹灯招牌正在减少，但它永远是香港文化的一部分，香港的夜晚仍然会十分精彩。
