太空狗莱卡

Laika the Space Dog

1957年11月3日，一只名叫莱卡的流浪狗被送上太空。它不知道，去太空，从一开始就没有回来的计划。

如果莱卡会说话，它会这样和我们讲故事。我没有名字，我是一只在莫斯科街头的流浪狗，冬天很冷，我总是很饿。有一天，有一个人找到我，他摸了摸我的头，还给我吃东西。他叫我——莱卡。后来，我有了我的名字。他们让我坐在一个很小的箱子里，不要动。平时，我觉得那是一个游戏。接着，箱子变得越来越小。我在箱子里的时间也越来越久。我不能跑，也不能转身，我不知道为什么，但我每天都努力做一个好的小狗。

有一天，他们让我坐在一个箱子里，跟平时一样。但这一次，他们把好多奇怪的东西贴在我的身上。这是今天的新游戏吗？我不明白。门关上了，我看不见他们了。接着，整个世界开始剧烈地震动。声音很大。后来，周围突然安静了，我的身体变得轻轻的，好奇怪。我不知道发生了什么。我飞起来了？我有点害怕。他们还是没有打开门。慢慢地，我觉得越来越热。我想，如果睡一觉，醒来以后，是不是就能回家了……

On November 3, 1957, a stray dog named Laika was sent into space. It did not know that going to space had no plan for return from the very beginning.

If Laika could speak, it would tell us the story like this. I had no name; I was a stray dog on the streets of Moscow. Winter was very cold, and I was always hungry. One day, a man found me; he patted my head and gave me food. He called me—Laika. Later, I had my name. They made me sit in a very small box and not move. Usually, I thought it was a game. Then, the box became smaller and smaller. The time I spent in the box also became longer and longer. I couldn't run or turn around. I didn't know why, but every day I worked hard to be a good puppy.

One day, they made me sit in a box, just like usual. But this time, they stuck many strange things on my body. Is this a new game today? I don't understand. The door closed, and I couldn't see them anymore. Then, the whole world began to shake violently. The sound was very loud. Later, the surroundings suddenly became quiet, and my body became light—how strange. I didn't know what happened. Did I fly up? I was a little scared. They still didn't open the door. Slowly, I felt hotter and hotter. I thought, if I take a nap, when I wake up, will I be able to go home...

That little dog, who always believed humans would come back to pick it up, forever stayed in space. Laika never came home again. In 2008, Russia built a monument for Laika in Moscow, letting people remember that Laika helped humans enter space.

那只一直相信人类会回来接它的小狗，永远留在了太空。莱卡再也没有回家。2008年，俄罗斯在莫斯科为莱卡建立了一座纪念碑。让人们记住，莱卡帮助人类进入太空。
